piently been quoted as attributing their suc-iess in life to extensive advertising. Now, while we are ready to admit the necessity of taking printer's tak in bringing our wares before the public, we differ widely from some as to what constitutes judicious advertising. This is our way.

Seventy-five Cents. 75c. Seventy-five Cents. The "Star" Shirt Waist for boys is about the best made; it is certainly better known than any other make. It has been extensively advertised in this town as a great bargain at one dollar. Now we offer your choice of one hundred different patterns of the "Star" at seventy-five cents each. Good goods sold at popular prices is our idea of effective advertising.

As it is with Boys' Shirt Walsts so it is with the Boys' and Children's Clothing we keep, our stock of which is extensive and varied, cinbracing every kind and style worth having. If we sell our finest grades at a prices charged elsewhere for medium grades it is because WE DO. (This isn't a lawyer's reason exactly, but it goes.) If we sell our medium qualities for prices charged elsewhere for TRASH it is because where having paid for them, they are our property, and we have the right to sell them as low as we please.

An array of figures is dry reading, besides they count for nothing unless you see the goods. Therefore we will only say we have Children's Suits from $1.25 to $10; Eoys' Suits from $3.50 to $16, and in all the intermediate grades. We present every pur-chaser of a Boys' Suit with a pair of roller skates.

We believe, and our belief is founded on ex-perience, that a thoroughly satisfied customer is the best advertisement a house oan lave. In our efforts to make such of every patron of our lieuse, we name

THE STATE OF DAKOTA,

Reports Made to the House Yesterday-Reasoning of the Majority and Mi

Mr. Springer, from the committee on ter-ritories, yesterday presented to the House the adverse report of the majority of that committee on the Senate bill to provide for the edmission of the state of Dakota into the Uniou, and for the organization of the territory of Lincoln. The report says:

the Union, and for the organization of the territory of Lincoln. The report says:

It cannot be said that the people of Dakota, and especially of southern Dakota, are in favor of admitting into the Union. The southern part of that territory as a state. The movement baving it view the formation of two states to be carved out of the territory of Dakota originated in that territory. Congress has in no way authorized or recognized it. The present statehood movement in Dakota is without precedent, and has no just claim to the favorable consideration of Congress. Congress may, in its discretion, railify proceedings taken by a territory looking to its admission to the Union. But until such ratification all such proceedings are tregather and without binding force. The question of whether the present territory of Dakota is to be so divided as to lay the foculation for two states to be admitted into the Union here after as one, interests the people of all the states that the control of Dakota. The people of the states having larger areas than the territory. There are already in the Union two states having larger areas than the territory. There are already in the Union two states having larger areas than the territory of Dakota, the population of Dakota certaining does not entitle her to be admitted into the Union as two states. It would be manifestly unjust to all the people of the Union to carve two states out of the present territory of Dakota. It may safely be assumed that it will be many years before the territory will reach the population of 1,312,000, the average population of all the states, according to the canno of 1850.

Chalrman Hill, of Ohio, submitts a minority report in which, while disagreeing with population of all the states, secording to the cenaus of 1850.

Chairman Hill, of Ohio, submits a minority report in which, while disagreeing with the reasoning of the majority, he holds that Dakota should not be admitted under the Senate bill because all the people of the territory were not consulted fairly on the question of division and the formation of a constitution for the proposed state. He believes that—

It is the duty of Congress to refer this question of the division of the territory to the full vote of the people thereof, fairly ascertained by proper legislation, after which Congress can take proper steps to admit to the sixterhood of states Dakota as Northern Bakota when the people of the two territories once established have taken the proper steps to organize state governments under the authority of enabling ects submitted by Congress and subject to the approval thereof.

Another minority report is signed by governments under the suthority of enabling sets submitted by Cougress and subject to the approval thereof.

Another minority report is signed by Messrs. Baker, Struble, Cooper, Hermann, and Symes. They respectfully submit:

That the people of Dakota are in favor of admitting to the Union the southern part as a state. Every fact justifies and every consideration demands and establishes beyond question the claim and right of Dakota to be immediately admitted into the Union.

They submit that the majority have erred in failing to suggest any proposition by way of amendment to the pending Sensis bill by which the people of Dakota may be conferred their rights under the federal constitution to admission as a state. It has been supposed that the Senate bill might be amended so as to provide for the submission of the constitution to a new vote of the people of Bakota—a condition which, though the subscribers conceive to be unjust, they may nevertheless accord to be which, though the effects of which are to change slightly the those of division from the forty-sixth parallel of north latitude to the seventh standard parallel of north latitude to the seventh standard parallel of north latitude and propose the name of North Dakota, instead of Almola, for the territory not cumbraced within the lines of the new state. These suggestions, they say, it adopted, would convert the Senate bill into an enabling act pure and simple. These are their suggestions only for the object sought, they say, and they close their report with the expression of their belief that it is the constitutional right of the state of Dakota to the House from the Schate, the passage of which they sare their suggestions only for the object which they sare their suggestions only for the object sought, they say, and they close their report with the expression of their belief that it is the constitutional right of the state of Dakota to the House from the Schate, the passage of which they care their suggestions.

THE TREATY WITH MEXICO. Adverse Report Upon the Hill Intended to Carry Into Effect the So-Called Reciprocity Treaty of 1883.

The ways and means committee yester-day decided by a vote of 10 to 1 to report adversely upon the bill to carry into effect the commercial treaty with Mexico. In its report to the House, submitted yesterday Mr. Maybury, the majority of the committee says:

It will be seen at a glance that the treaty, if such it can be rightly called, is of exceedingly limited scope; it is exclusively commercial in steat and without political sprindeance. It is the exchange of certain specified articles of commerce, few in number comparatively, and mostly inconsiderable in commercial value. It reserves no exclusive rights to either party, but studiously preserves the right of either local with perical independence and in the direction which seems to conserve the best interests of either.

In conclusion, the majority refers to the report of J. Evans, special agent of the treasury, as a clear presentation of the obstacles which stand in the way of fair and just trade in Mexico under her present tariff system, and as illustrating the utter futility of endeavoring to establish satisfactory or free commercial relations with her by treaty so long as such a system exists.

her by treaty so long as such a system exists.

Mr. Hewitt submits a minority report recommending the enactment of the House bill intended to carry into effect this so-called treaty of reciprocity between the United States and Mexico. After a short argument in support of the proposition that commercial treaties dealing with revenue questions cannot be carried into effect without affirmative action of the legislative branch of the government, Mr. Hewitt says:

We cannot expect that the prejudices of a

Hewitt says:

We cannot expect that the prejudices of a century will disappear in a day. That Mexico is ready to open her gates to our bighways and to offer us tree exchange in any commodities as surprising as it is creditable to her intelligence. That we should hesitate to take advantage of this enlargement of the area of freedom, and of this new field for the exercise of our energies and the disposition of our products, is simply to declare ourselves guilty of the stupidity and prejudices which we have been in the habit of charging upon others, and this act of folly would be committed at a time when we so much used new and larger markuts for the surplus products of industry.

NEW RAILWAY PROJECTS.

The Contemplated Boad Along the Potomac Biver, From Pledmont to Cumberland-Other Enterprises for Development of the Country.

Ex-Senstor H. G. Davis, of West Virginia. says, in relation to the contemplated new rallroad from Piedmont to Cumberland-the Piedmont and Cumberland Railway-the necessary surveys are now being made with a view to permanently locating the line, necessary surveys are now being made with a view to permanently locating the line, which is to begin at the West Virginia Central railroad junction, about a mile west of Piedmont, and follow the Potomae river to Cumberland, a distance of about 28 miles. The new road will not be in the interest of either the Baltimore and Ohio or the Peonsylvania; it is purely a business enterprise, mainly in the interest of the West Virginia Central Railroad, and the development of the country it will penetrate. Continuing, Mr. Davis said:

The West Virginia Central wants competing onliets to successfully market the rich products of the country it has opened up, and, with this connecting link to Cumberland, it would have a choice of three competing lines of tramsportation, viz. the Baltimore and Ohio and Fennsylvania Esilroad systems, and the Chesapeake and Ohio canal. It is true this road will parallel the Baltimore and Ohio a part of the way, but that is often done to reach competing points. If the situation were reversed and the Fennsylvania road reached Piedmont, while the Entitimore and Ohio, as we now do with the Fennsylvania. We expect to give all three liues of transportation at Cumberland, a fair share of our basiness, providing, of course, the rates of freight are equal, and they treat us in a fair and just way.

As soon as the times shall become more favorable, and business will warrant it, we expect to exteed the West Virginia central southwestwardly through West Virginia as as to connect with the Chesapeake and Ohio road, and we can reach a connection by going down wither the Greenbrier, Gauley, or Effy miles on either side of this contemplated connection, and the central road, and we can reach a connection by going down wither the Greenbrier, Gauley, or Effy miles on either side of this contemplated connection, and the road would run nearly its whole route the long run of the state. There is no railroad, by the way, for fifty miles on either side of this contemplated connection, and the road would run nearly its w

MR. CORCORAN'S RESIGNATION. His Reasons for Leaving the Vestry of

As much surprise has been expressed by many of the friends of Mr. W. W. Corcoran that he should have resigned from the vestry of the Church of the Ascension and leave, as he has openly declared he has, during the incumbency of the present rector the church he in a great measure built, having contributed thereto about, $100,000, and which he valued especially as a memorial of and to his etterished friend, the late Bishop Pinkney, and especially as Mr. Corcoran's position appears to have been misunderstood and misstated by a number of persons, and in some instances been misunderstood and misstated by a number of persons, and in some instances by the public press, a REPURLICAN re-porter has obtained from a member of the former vestry a copy of Mr. Corcoran's let-ter of reeignation. This letter was sent by him to the vestry at the time of its date, but up to date he has received no reply be-yond an acknowledgment of its receipt and the statement that it had been referred to a committee for consideration.

the statement that it had been referred to a committee for consideration.

The letter is as follows:

Washington, May 3, 1856—To the Ventry of the Chilenon, it hereby resign the office of vestryman of the Church of the Ascension, to which, I understand, I was effected in the late election.

Some weeks ago the rector informed me by letter that at a meeting of pewholders called, I know not at whose instance, my name had been designated as that of one of the caudidates to be supported at the then approaching election, in conjunction with several others embraced in your present musher. In reply I wrote to the rector on the 6th of April, requesting him to inform the pewholders empayed in this consultation that I would not accept the spoolshment for reasons specified, even if it is should be approved by the unanimous vote of the church. I asked, however, as a favor and as a tribute to sentiments cherished, at less, by a portion of the members who shill reverence the memory of fishop l'instend, that I might be allowed to name a member of the others, the should take my place on the telekt.

The rector subsequently informed me by letter, under date of April II, that it was the unanimous opinion of the pewholders engaged in these deliberations, as expressed by a formal resolution, that the gentleman whom I had designated should not be placed on the telekt.

The terms of this resolution were communicated to me by the rector, on behalf of the "secretary" of the "meeting, though without giving me the secretary's name or where the menting was held or the names of the pewholders engaged in the consultation.

I have never participated in any consultation of church members except for purposes of unity and peace as broad as the whole church. Consultations looking to the ascendancy of a single party in the church do not command my respect or approval, and, at my time of life, ican hardly be expected to change this settled conviction of duty.

Even if I had no either reason for declining the appointment of vestryman, I could not, committee for consideration. The letter is as follows:

It is becomespecially in the early hours. It is becoming recognized that most of the selling of the past week has been for London account, and the question in the minds of strangers is whether the present bull party will be able to absorb the stocks thrown on this market or not. Drawers of exchange made to-day an advance in their rates, which can only be accounted for by the sales of securities in this market, as our exports have been larger of late than for some time previous. Northwest was the strongest stock on the list, primarily on the buving by the them lims market, as our exports have been larger of late than for some time previous. Northwest was the strongest stock on the list, primarily on the buying by the Chicago party, and secondly on the proximity of the next dividend, which Vice President Sykes says will be 3 per cent.

St. Faul, though much more active than its sister stock, was sold heavily by London this morning, and barely held its own throughout the day. There was an attempt to lift Eric on the circunation of a story that Baltimore and Ohio intended to use part of the Eric track, but this was soon contradicted, and the story fell flat. There was considerably more activity in the loan crowd to-day, and higher rates are reported. The market opened weak this morning, generally from b to i per cent. below yesterday's final prices. There were further slight declines in the early dealings, but quickly recovered, and, under the leadership of Northwest, advanced fractional amounts during the first hour. This was followed by a dull and steady market until after 1 p. m. There was then another upward movement, accompanied by considerable activity, which culminated shortly before 2 o'clock. The market then quieted down, and prices yielded slowly, and finally closed heavy, close to the opening prices.

The net result of the day's operations is generally an advance of small fractions. The total sales aggregated 215,182 shares, a decrease from vesterday of over 34,000 shares. The reverse only five stocks which aggregated over 10,000 shares, St. Paul, Lackawanna, Lake Shore, Northwestern and Erie, in the order named, and they furnish nearly two-thirds of the day's business.
